

Digital events and exciting new competitions

The 2020 CBA Festival of Archaeology will be taking place in two parts:

- Digital events 11-19 July
- On the ground events 24 October - 1 November

Discover the digital festival

This year the Festival of Archaeology is going online for the first time!

Registration is now open for digital activity taking place during the first part of the Festival from 11-19 July.

We are looking forward to sharing a range of different types of digital activity including live talks and digital tours, Twitter conferences and Q&A's, blog based activity, interactive discussions and resources to download and complete offline.

The first events are now live on the Festival website and more events are being added regularly so check back each week to see what's new. We'll also be sharing highlights of what's to come in the e-news over the coming weeks.

individuals. If you have an idea for an event or activity you can find details of how to register here and registration is open right up until the start of the Festival on the 11 July.

If you have any questions about the digital activity in June, or the on the ground activity in October, please contact the Festival team at festival@archaeologyuk.org.

Introducing this year's Festival competitions

CBA FESTIVAL OF ARCHAEOLOGY 2020

#RubbishArt COMPETITION!

Prizes will be awarded in three age categories: under 15 years, 15-18 years and over 16.

HOW TO ENTER

Post a picture of your creation on Facebook, Twitter or Instagram with the hashtag #RubbishArt and tag us @archaeologyuk

OR email your entry to festival@archaeologyuk.org

Include a caption of no more than 30 words that sums up your creation!

Under 16? A parent or guardian will need to post your entry using their social media account. Entries should include your name and age on 31 July 2020.

Think you're rubbish at art? What about getting arty with rubbish?

Get crafting and recreate your favourite archaeological sites or objects out of things you would otherwise throw away. How about Stonehenge made of baked bean tins, the Sutton Hoo helmet made from sweet wrappers, or an origami Caernarfon Castle made out of old envelopes?

ARCHAEOLOGY SHOWREEL COMPETITION

WITH PAST PRESERVERS

PAST PRESERVERS

PRODUCTION: Archaeology Showreel

STARRING: You!

DIRECTOR: You!

Videos should be no more than 8 minutes long

Prizes will be awarded to the best entry in two age categories: under 16 and over 16

Winners will be taken on the books of Past Preservers, have their showreel shown to real TV talent spotters - plus receive a year's free CBA membership.

Judged by archaeologist and TV presenter Alex Langlands from Digging Up Britain's Past and Victorian Bakers.

Competition closes 15th July 2020

So grab a phone and get filming!

Do you watch archaeology on TV and wonder what it's like to be in front of the camera? Now's your chance to show us what you can do and create your Archaeology Showreel! We don't expect you to visit an archaeological site and you don't need any specialist equipment - your phone and your imagination are all you need. You could use props from your house to take us on an imaginary museum tour, discover the priceless lost teacup of your back garden, or show off your sparkling interview technique with a relative. Have fun and be creative!

Full details on how to enter: festival.archaeologyuk.org/ArchaeologyShowreel

#RubbishArt gives you the chance to get crafty with your rubbish. In keeping with this year's Festival theme of Climate and Environment we're asking you to upcycle the things you would normally recycle or throw away and recreate an archaeological site or artefact. Find out how to enter here.

Archaeology Showreel is for all the budding tv presenters out there. For our competition archaeology presenter. The shortlisted entries will be shown to TV networks and our winners will be chosen by Alex Langlands from Digging Up Britain's Past. All the details of how to enter can be found here.

Both of our competitions are open to entrants of all ages. Please make sure you read the terms and conditions before entering, these can be found by following the competition links above.
